

May 6, 2009

Dear PQMRA Members:

This Saturday, May 9 will be our first club race of the 2009 Season! While this date has been posted on our web site since our schedule has been finalized, there has been some confusion around this date and I wanted to ensure you each were aware.

For confirmation – we are running points this year and our race on Saturday is our first of six races within this series. Per our 2009 race format, your drivers will be required to confirm their intention to run for points in the classes they are competing in; this can be confirmed during the registration process.

Saturday's schedule will begin at 8am with safety and registration followed by one, 5-minute round of practice per class at approximately 9am. Our format for Saturday will include heat races followed by main events and what is forecasted to be perfect weather – and racing conditions!

Best wishes for a successful 2009 Season.

Regards,

Greg Mahoney
